

SAMUEL INSULL'S LONG FLIGHT AT END IN TURKEY

DR. WIRT CITES

of Congressman

BULLETIN

Washington, March 30—(AP)—Speaker Rainey said today he had offered Representative Bulwinkle (D. N. C.) the chairmanship of the special House committee authorized to investigate "brain trust" revolution charges by Dr. William A. Wirt. Bulwinkle instigated the inquiry.

The personnel of the committee of five has not been decided upon. Rainey said. It probably will be appointed Monday.

It was reported, however, that Representatives O'Connor of New York, Arnold of Illinois and Lewis of Colorado, are Democrats being considered for two of the places, and Representatives Fish of New York and Martin of Mass., for the Republican positions.

Meanwhile, Rep. Fish issued a statement saying that while he had no idea "what Dr. Wirt knows about the brain trust or planned revolution at Washington," there was "no question, however, but that the left wing radicals and Socialists are high up in the councils of the administration and hold many key positions."

"The Democratic voters have been betrayed by the administration," he said.

Washington, March 30—(AP)—Representative Foulkes (D. Mich.) said today that Dr. William A. Wirt of Gary, Ind., had declined a challenge to debate with him upon the latter's allegations that some Roosevelt advisers are communistic sympathizers.

The Wirt telegram as made public by the Congressman read:

"Secretary Wallace recently published the statement 'there can hardly be even a satisfactory tentative answer until we decide which way we want to go. It should be debated in Congress, in public forums in city and in country school house meetings in every state. The people must be let in on the problem.'"

"The question is not a Communist or a Communist. I congratulate you on your offer to assist in this effort to decide the way we want to go. I sincerely regret that owing to the limitations of time and physical strength, I cannot assist you."

After referring yesterday on the House floor to a telegram from Wirt "in which he names a person high up in the administration who had certain significant statements," Foulkes declined until today to give the text of the telegram to newspapermen.

To Summon Doctor

A summons was in preparation today for Wirt to come to Washington and tell the whole story. Representative Bulwinkle (D. N. C.), whose resolution for an investigation was adopted late yesterday by the House, said Wirt would get an invitation to appear before a special committee probably late next week.

Foulkes kept close possession of the Wirt telegram. It was in answer to Foulkes' demand that Wirt name "one of the five men foremost in the Democratic party" credited by the educator with having said President Roosevelt is only the "Kerensky of this revolution."

SAYS DATA IS SAFE

Gary, Ind., March 30—(AP)—Dr. William A. Wirt, Gary School Superintendent, announced today that the names he has been pressed to reveal as "brain trusters" planning a revolution in government—have been "filed in a safe place" for disclosure "when necessary."

Explaining that he hoped to stop rumors that he had already divulged the names to anyone, Dr. Wirt issued a formal statement. It said:

"I have not given names to anyone. But I have filed in a safe place the names and descriptions of conferences so that this information will be available whenever it is necessary that it be produced."

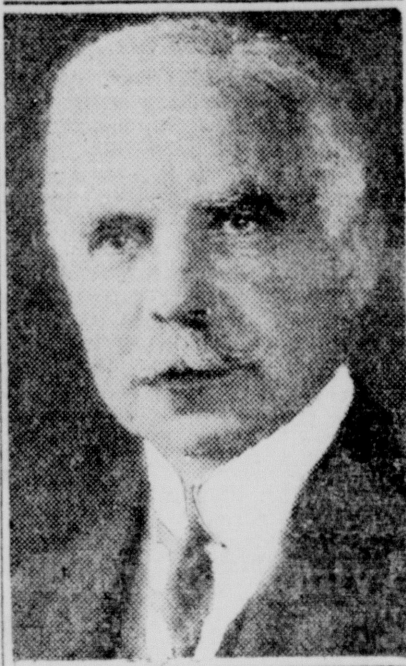

The Gary school official, who is to be called before a House investigating committee to amplify his charges that some of President Roosevelt's advisers are deliberately prolonging the depression—said he would not comment upon this invitation until officially notified of it.

Dr. Wynkoop May Become Seamstress
in Prison of Women

Dwight, Ill., Mar. 30—(AP)—Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynkoop may become a seamstress in the state's reformatory for women.

She was taken to a hospital room in the reformatory yesterday after her arrival from Chicago to serve a 25-year sentence for the operating table killing of her daughter-in-law Rheta. She will remain in isolation for at least two weeks and then be given an examination to determine whether she is able to join in the life of the other inmates and sew.

Dr. Wynkoop visited the institution yesterday to bid his mother good-bye.

World Mourns
Famous Banker
and Art Patron

OTTO H. KAHN

New York, March 30—(AP)—

While messages of condolence for the death yesterday of Otto H. Kahn, the international banker, poured in today from all parts of the world, artistic and musical New York mourned the passing of one of its greatest benefactors.

The actual scope of Mr. Kahn's efforts went far beyond public knowledge. His support of the Metropolitan Opera Company, the Theatre Guild, the Philharmonic Symphony, and other major organizations was well known, but there are scores of obscure or little-known artists in New York who felt his helping hand in need.

Whenever he could, the banker proffered that no one should know of his aid save the person benefited. Someone discovered in 1930, for example, that he had been donating sums for many years to Negroes to encourage the development of their racial art.

Mr. Kahn had a well-developed artistic bent, which was encouraged to the full by his education. In his youth he learned to play both the violin and the cello. At seventeen he had written two five-act tragedies in blank verse.

Arrangements for the funeral were to be announced today.

WAGNER LABOR
BILL ATTACKED
AGAIN BY I.M.A.Proposed Legislation Called "A Primer
from Moscow"

Washington, March 30—(AP)—A group of Illinois manufacturers today opposed the Wagner labor bill, one saying it "means turning over management of industry to union labor representatives" and another terming it "a primer from Moscow."

The author of the first quotation delivered to the Senate Labor committee, was C. S. Craigmile of the Belden Manufacturing Company.

The other was uttered by Roy F. Hall, General Counsel for the National Lock Company at Rockford, Ill.

Hall detailed his company's dispute with the National Labor Board, citing the case as an example of unfair treatment employers would get from a permanent board.

The group was headed by James L. Donnelly, Executive Vice President of the Illinois Manufacturers Association.

Craigmile said his company, which he described as a typical small industrial enterprise, had been operated for the past 13 years for "almost the exclusive benefit of the employees."

He added that over that period the company payroll had been $16,782,000, while its profits had been only $135,000.

Dividends were $280,000, or 1.15 per cent a year, he said.

The bill by Senator Wagner (D. N. Y.) would outlaw employer-dominated company unions and would make permanent the National Labor Board, of which he is chairman.

112-ROOM TEXAS
HOTEL BURNED:
TWO MEN DEADLongview Scene of a
Spectacular Fire
Early Today

Longview, Tex., March 30—(AP)—A spectacular fire early today razed the $250,000, 112-room Hotel Longview, taking two lives, injuring a score and leaving others unaccounted for.

So quickly did the flames sweep through the three-story building the guests barely had time to escape. Many of them jumped to the street in their night clothes and others were rescued from precarious positions on window sills by firemen.

D. F. Safford, about 45, Dallas, Tex., an employee of an insurance company, was killed instantly when he jumped head first from a third story window and landed on his head. The charred body of another person, whose identity could not be established, was found in the ruins.

Only a few of the 80-odd guests were up when the flames sprang up from a source undetermined and quickly got beyond control. Hope of saving the building soon was abandoned.

An heroic mother, Mrs. Lewis Leacy, seeing every avenue of escape blocked, tossed her 14-month-old son out of a window.

He landed on an awning protruding from a window on the floor below and firemen scrambled up later to rescue him.

CWA IS SHELVED
AND NEW RELIEF
PROGRAM IS ONApproximately One Billion Dollars Expended in Work

Washington, March 30—(AP)—The Civil Works Administration came to end today with the man in charge—Harry L. Hopkins—pronouncing it a success.

"It resulted in work of social usefulness that will be a benefit in years to come," the CWA Administrator told reporters, adding the program gave "millions of people an opportunity to earn an income on a real job."

Approximately 1,850,000 persons still were on the payroll, but most of them are to be transferred Monday to the work program of the relief administration—also headed by Hopkins.

New Plan Ready

The government has a new relief plan ready to supplant CWA and Hopkins emphasized anew that "we intend to see that everybody in the country who needs relief gets it."

Some 250,000 persons will remain with CWA to finish details of the work and complete Federal and research projects by May 1, but the general program is over.

The administration has spent approximately $1,000,000,000 on civil works, Hopkins said. Of this, $750,000,000 went for payrolls and approximately $250,000,000 for materials. Some of this money was supplied by states, counties and municipalities.

The average employment by civil works from December 1 to date was given as 3,000,000. The highest number was at that time, Hopkins said, was slightly over 4,000,000 with a payroll just above $60,000,000 a week.

STEEL CORP. TO BOOST SALARIES
AND WAGES APR. 1General Electric Also Gets In Process of Pay Boosters

New York, March 30—(AP)—The United States Steel Corporation announced today that its various manufacturing companies, after meeting with employees' representative groups, had agreed upon an advance of approximately 10 per cent in wages.

In addition, the announcement said, all the lesser salaried employees will get a similar pay raise. The company made its announcement at its offices after several of the subsidiaries had made individual announcements of wage increases effective April 1.

The company said the raises were "subject to such adjustments as may be found desirable and mutually satisfactory." Approximately 140,000 wage earners are affected.

Salaries Cut Twice

Salaried employees of the corporation during the past few years have received two reductions in pay, one ranging from 10 per cent to 15 per cent, the other 15 per cent flat. In addition a part time schedule of working hours was put into effect.

Officials said the following subsidiaries would be affected by the wage increase:

Carnegie Steel Company, Illinois Steel Company, American Steel & Wire Company, American Sheet & Tin Plate Company, National Tube Company, Lorain Steel Company, Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Company, Columbia Steel Company, American Bridge Company and Universal Atlas Cement Company.

They declined to give the number of employees in each.

G. E. FOLLOWS SUIT

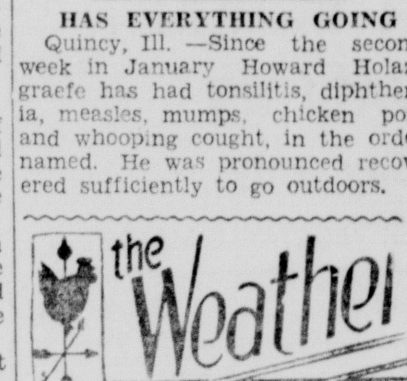

New York, March 30—(AP)—Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric Company, announced today that effective April 1, all full-time salaries of $2,600 or less and all hourly rates of pay will be increased 10 per cent.

BROKEN SCHOOL
ROMANCE ENDS
IN GIRL'S DEATHPetersburg, Ind. Girl
Found Slain: Companion in Jail

Petersburg, Ind., March 30—(AP)—Chums of 16-year-old Annabelle France today attributed the girl's slaying to a broken high school romance.

Her body was found last night in the automobile in which she had started to a junior class party accompanied by Ward Davis, 20, a former high school athlete.

Officers who questioned high school pupils, among them Miss Margaret Jackson, close friend of the slain girl, were told Miss France and Davis were close friends last year but their friendship cooled while Davis was attending the University of Alabama last fall.

Made No Statement

Davis, held in jail at Washington, made no statement concerning the shooting. He surrendered to Petersburg authorities last night and was taken to Washington when a crowd congregated around the local jail. Feeling had subsided this morning, however.

Miss France had been with Davis yesterday afternoon. Miss Jackson told officers, and when she returned confided she planned to attend the class party with Davis although she feared "something desperate." Miss Jackson said her friend offered no explanation of the latter remark.

From Lyle Basinger, a friend of Davis, authorities said they learned the former athlete borrowed a revolver yesterday, explaining he wished to use the weapon to shoot a sick dog.

Had Full Weapon

Officers said they took a revolver from Davis when he surrendered but the cylinder was full. The weapon was to be examined to determine whether it had been fired recently.

When the body of Miss France was found in the car which had been parked in front of Davis' home there was a bullet wound in the heart.

Officers were told that during the afternoon Davis engaged in target practice with the borrowed revolver. Later he borrowed the automobile of a friend, Robert Davis, who is no relation, and drove to the high school where he met Miss France.

Authorities said Davis and Miss France had driven around during the afternoon "ok" but early in the evening the car was parked on a side road south of Petersburg. They believe Miss France was killed at that place.

SPECIFICATIONS
OF AIR ROUTES
OUTLINED TODAYPostoffice Department
Adds Two More Air
Mail Routes

Washington, March 30—(AP)—Addition of two new air mail routes was announced today by the Post Office Department.

One route, from Chicago to New Orleans via Memphis, Springfield, Ill., St. Louis, Memphis and Jackson, Miss.—approximately 930 miles.

The other runs from Cheyenne, Wyo., to Pueblo, Colo., via Denver, Colorado Springs, approximately 201 miles.

They will be submitted later in the day to private companies for bidding.

This brings the number proposed by the Department to 17.

Specifications will be announced shortly and the bids are to be returned within 15 days.

The bidders will be required to take over the mail within 30 days after the 15-day period has expired.

This is a part of the government's plan to return airmail transportation to private companies.

Specifications

Specifications for the air mail routes were made public later by the Postoffice Department. For bidding purposes the 17 routes were divided into 21.

Specifications for each of the routes contained the provision that the minimum speed be 110 miles an hour. Rates of pay were fixed at from 41 cents to 45 cents per airplane mile. The Postoffice Department based them on definite weight spaces per airplane mile, one cubic foot being computed as the equivalent of nine pounds of airmail.

Variable Rates Out.

Variable rates of pay contained in the contracts annulled on February 9 are absent in the new specifications. Under the old arrangement contractors were paid more if they had certain additional equipment.

Sealed proposals are to be returned to the department April 19 and be opened publicly April 20.

The proposals are to cover a three-month period, and may be extended for two periods of 30 days more than these months each at the option of Postmaster General Parley.

DEATH OF MRS.
McCUNE FOUND
TO BE ACCIDENTCoroner's Jury Hears
Evidence in Yesterday's Tragedy

A Coroner's jury empaneled yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Preston chapel to investigate the death of Mrs. Christina McCune, decided that injuries accidentally sustained when she was struck by an auto truck driven by John Johnson proved fatal. Three attorneys were present at the inquest and interrogated the witnesses.

E. E. Wingert appearing in the interests of the deceased, Robert Bracken for an insurance company and State's Attorney Edward Jones.

John Johnson, driver of the truck, stated that he was driving west on First street between 10 and 11 o'clock yesterday morning and that about 40 feet east of the Illinois Central arch met a truck going east. As he neared the arch, he observed the woman walking west. As the truck entered beneath the arch, at a speed estimated by the driver of about 20 miles per hour, the woman stepped toward the curb. Johnson said that he saw the course of the truck away from the curb to prevent hitting her and that he had travelled a distance of about 60 feet, when he observed in the rear vision mirror, her body lying in the street. He stopped the truck and his helper, Ed Wickert went back to where the woman lay.

Reported Accident

Wickert assisted Edward Brechon and Elmer Fischer, who arrived on the scene shortly after, to place the body in the Brechon car and the three men rushed her to the hospital. Johnson stated that he reported the accident to his employer and in turn it was reported to the police department.

Wickert's testimony substantiated that of Johnson. Brechon and Fischer both testified to taking the unconscious woman to the hospital but neither witnessed the accident and did not see the truck before discovering the body lying in the street west of the arch.

Chief of Police J. D. VanBibber testified that the accident was reported to him and that the victim's pocket book was also turned over to him. Dr. E. S. Murphy described the nature of the injuries which consisted of a fractured pelvis, a deep scalp wound back of the left ear, several broken ribs in the upper left chest and other bruises and contusions.

Long Resident Here

Mrs. Christina Wiener McCune was born in Germany, March 7, 1867 and came to this vicinity a resident of 25 miles from this city when less than one year of age where she resided until about 15 years ago. She was the widow of the late Irvin W. McCune, who for a number of years conducted a large green house east of the city. She is survived by one son, Ray McCune of San Francisco, Calif., and an only sister, Mrs. Jesse Weststead of this city. Mrs. McCune has been residing at Council, Idaho, and came to Dixon several days ago to close up her business affairs, planning to return to Council, where she owns a peach orchard, next Tuesday.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Preston chapel. Rev. Gilbert Stancliff, pastor of the First Methodist church will officiate, and an interment will be in Oakwood. Her son, Ray McCune is expected to arrive from San Francisco, Cal., early Monday morning.

Scholarship from Rockford College
Given Dixon High

Rockford College, which has been a pioneer in education for women since the early 1840's has included the Dixon High School in the group of high schools in which a $300 regional competitive scholarship has been placed. Students who are planning to enter college in 1934 are eligible to apply for the scholarship.

The scholarship will be awarded primarily in recognition of scholastic and personal distinction. The chief considerations determining the award will be scholastic and social leadership, and such qualities as originality and initiative.

Applications must be sent to Rockford College by April 15. The scholarships will be awarded on or before May 15.

On the return trip, five University of Illinois students who were hitch-hiking to their homes in Amboy and Dixon for the Easter vacation, recognized Sheriff Richardson at Normal and completed their trip in the Sheriff's car.

LONG CHASE AT END?

Indications today were that Samuel Insull had finally been collared by the United States government, after a long and exciting chase.

Though Turkish officials have not yet announced his actual arrest, the steel arm of the strong Kemalist regime blocked the passage of the steamer Maiotis opposite the mouth of the famous Golden Horn, and held the ship's lone passenger a virtual prisoner while the government awaited the receipt of documents from Washington.

Formal steps toward his actual arrest are to be taken any moment, it was indicated, as soon as the necessary papers are in order.

Little Delay Expected

The history of Turkey under Mustapha Kemal led foreign circles to believe that there is unlikely to be any such delay in the handling of the Insull case here as occurred in Greece.

Negotiations between Ankara officials and American Ambassador Skinner are expected to write final to the strange Odyssey of the man who is wanted in Chicago on charges of embezzlement and larceny in connection with the collapse of the utility empire he once ruled.

The fugitive from American justice virtually sailed into a trap without thinking, apparently, of the customary rapid-fire action of modern Turkish officials.

"The Mystery Man of the Mediterranean" was reported still trying to evade arrest and he was said to be constantly wirelessly his lawyers in London for advice.

Long Meeting Held

At Ankara last night a lengthy session of the cabinet was held and the Insull case was discussed thoroughly.

MILK PRICE

Due to prevailing unusual conditions, it is impractical for the Board of Milk Producers to announce in advance the price it will pay for fluid milk delivered and accepted. Therefore, until further notice, the price for fluid milk will not be announced until after said milk is delivered and accepted. The price will be published within five (5) days after the period for which the company will have heretofore announced the price in advance.

FRENCH PLOT TO KILL LINDBERGH TOLD BY WRITER

"Crime Reporter" Outlines Alleged Details in Book

New York, March 30—(AP)—A purported plot to cause strained relations between the United States and France by slaying Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh at the conclusion of his flight across the Atlantic ocean is related in a book by George Du Parco, published this week, and titled "Crime Reporter."

Du Parco, a Paris police reporter, writes that the Surete of Paris received a tip the day after Lindbergh landed. The American embassy was warned, he said, and a cordon of Secret Service men was thrown about the Embassy building.

Two days later, the author relates, two men were arrested, a French Apache and an alleged Russian anarchist. The Apache is said by Du Parco to have confessed that he agreed, for a sum of 10,000 francs, to snipe the flyer from the room of the Embassy with a specially constructed gun.

AUTOPSY SHOWS BLOW ON HEAD KILLED CHILD

Rockford Boy's Body Found Day After Dad's Sentence

Rockford, Ill., March 30—(AP)—Post mortem examination of the body of eight-year-old Charlie Backus gave proof that he had been slain by a crushing blow on the head before his father hid his body beneath the Rock River ice, the coroner announced today.

The child's body was recovered yesterday after a seven week's search, just a day too late to prosecute Charles Backus, senior, for murder.

Backus confessed and pleaded guilty to manslaughter Wednesday, precluding new prosecution for murder.

Coroner Walter Julian said the boy's skull had been fractured by a heavy blow, and there was no water in the lungs, indicating death had come before he was placed in the river.

Backus is under sentence of one to 14 years in prison for the killing which occurred Feb. 7, and two other terms of 30 years each, all running concurrently, for attacking his step-daughters. He must serve at least 13 years before parole is possible.

The boy's burial will be at public expense, and authorities are pondering how to take care of other members of the family.

DIXON EASTER LILIES ARE IN GREAT DEMAND

Many Greenhouses' Blooms Not Out Because of Cold

The early Easter this year has found many florists with plantings of Easter lilies which will not be ready for the market and from reports an extreme shortage of these seasonal plants exists.

The Dixon Floral Company's greenhouses north of the city have developed about 1,000 of these beautiful lilies this spring, the crop being the largest that has been grown in the 30 years in which Louis Kihel, the owner, has been in business. He has already rejected requests for his plants from many dealers who will be unable to supply the demand because of the early Easter.

The plants from the local greenhouses this spring represent a new variety of Easter lily, grown here for the first time. The plants bear several beautiful large lilies, the trumpets being much larger than those formerly produced.

He did not announce the exact time he planned to leave for his boyhood state nor what route he would follow in his motor car tour through the west that seems to swell in extent and significance with every mile.

He spent the night here, conferred with Republican leaders and was joined by a former White House secretary, Lawrence Richey, who flew here from Washington.

LEGION 33 DISBANDED
Chicago—Officers of the American Legion Thirty-Three Corporation of Chicago dissolved the group, turning over $14,000 to the state organization, $10,000 of which was in trust for five years in event another national convention is held here.

Chicago, Mar. 30—(AP)—Phil S. Hanna, editor of the Chicago Journal of Commerce, asserted that competition between federal projects and private enterprises lays the government "squarely open to the charge of chiseling."

He told the Chicago section of the National Metal Trades Association last night that "it seems to me that the government is squarely open to a charge of chiseling when it begins to compete with citizens who have signed a code of fair competition."

"The question may well be asked: If a code for private industry, why not a code for government?"

He declared that "unless the brain trust finds some way of controlling mother nature," the plan of scaling down abundance to fit the needs of the consumer was fallacious.

TO SPEED UP LOANS
Chicago, Mar. 30—(AP)—Henry Zander, Jr., state manager of the Home Owners Loan Corporation, said he would send a special representative into the East St. Louis office next week to speed up loans.

Walter Nesbit, Belleville, Democratic Representative-at-large, protested in a letter to Washington officials yesterday that only eight loans had been completed in that office.

WILL PICK COOK GRAND JURORS IN NEW MANNER

Judge Orders Only 23 Men to Report for Duty April 23

Chicago, March 30—(AP)—Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan of the Criminal Court today ordered a change in the manner of calling Cook county grand jurors, which the Illinois Supreme Court recently held, have not been lawfully assembled heretofore.

For the next jury, only 23 men will be called. It has been the practice to call from 50 to 60 for grand jury service, on the theory that otherwise officials could not be sure that the requisite 23 would show up.

In a decision which Cook county law enforcement officials have begged the Supreme Court to rescind the court indicated that juries selected in the customary way could not indict. The decision may leave some notorious criminals among them members of the Roger Touhy kidnaping band.

Under New Law
Judge Finnegan decided that the court's decision influenced him, but said he was simply following a provision of the new Illinois Practice Act which leaves it to the county board to call grand jurors. A jury commission has done it before in Cook county.

The judge had ordered a new jury called in the old way, but vacated this order today. Whether it means anything or not, he ordered the 23 men called on April 23.

The Supreme Court is expected to decide early in April whether to reconsider its grand jury decision. It was made in the case of a man charged with a minor hold-up.

HOMELESS CATS AND DOGS GET LARGE ESTATE

Suit to Break Will of Chicago Widow Dropped by Cousins

Chicago, Mar. 30—(AP)—Homeless cats and dogs were assured more than $200,000 of an estate traceable to a pioneer Chicago grocer.

The animals lost $284,834 yesterday when seven first cousins of Mrs. Marion E. McConnell, a widow, dropped their efforts to contest her will upon receipt of the latter sum for division among them.

In her will, Mrs. McConnell left the major portion of her $300,000 estate to homeless cats and dogs and specific bequests totaling $205,000 to cousins.

The animals were to be provided for through the Anti-Cruelty Society of Chicago which was bequeathed 40 per cent, and the American Humane Association of New York, 40 per cent. Boy Scouts of America was bequeathed 20 per cent.

Mrs. McConnell died Oct. 25, 1931 at the age of 74. She was the daughter of Horace Warren, pioneer Chicago grocer.

CHARGE BRIBERY IN SALE PARIS, KY., POWER CO.

Court Decision Submitted to Federal Commission

Washington, March 30—(AP)—The Federal Trade Commission received testimony today from A. M. McDermott, Commission Examiner, that bribery figures in the sale of the Paris, Tenn., Municipal Power Company to the Kentucky Tennessee Light & Power Company, an Associated Gas & Electric Company subsidiary.

Following testimony that W. T. Thayer, a New York state Senator, had written to Associated Gas & Electric officials that he hoped his "work" during a session of the legislature was "satisfactory to your company," the commission heard that George L. Fryer, Paris City Attorney, received a "bribe" in connection with the sale of the municipal plant.

Part of a court decision in the suit of the city against the Kentucky-Tennessee Company was quoted.

"That the contract was obtained by the bribery of Fryer (George L.), City Attorney of Paris, Tennessee, through the agency of Byrd (J. H.), who represented the company) and Rankin, his attorney, the means thereof being provided by the defendant, and by other corrupt and unethical practices."

"The work is to be given primarily to young men between the ages of 18 and 25, who are citizens of the United States, unmarried and unemployed, who wish to volunteer for this work, and who wish to allot a substantial portion of their $30 monthly cash allowance to their dependents. In addition, there will be selected a certain number of older men, married or unmarried, who live near the work projects, who are unemployed, and who have had actual experience in work in the forests. It will be especially valuable to have some of these older and experienced men among those getting their first taste of work in camp and forest. In case of these locally selected men, no allotments to dependents will be required."

Several Unfettered
"A member of the Civilian Conservation Corps discharged, for any cause, prior to the expiration of his term of service in any enrollment period will not be re-selected or enrolled in a succeeding enrollment period. A member discharged for an enrollment period on expiration of his term of service and who fails or is not permitted immediately to re-enroll at his station will not be eligible for reselection or enrollment in a succeeding period. A member dishonorably discharged at any time, for any cause, will not be reselected in the same or any succeeding period without the special approval of the Director, Emergency Conservation Work."

"He will receive his food, clothing and shelter (dependent upon the severity of the winter climate at the camp site, shelter will consist either of tentage or frame building) in camp for a period of six months. In addition, he will receive a minimum cash allowance of $30 a month, most of which should be allotted to the people who are dependent on him, as the man will not need more than $5 a month in cash at camp for incidental expenses. On the other hand, a man with much less than $5 per month in cash to meet his own incidentals will be at a disadvantage."

The new order is taken to affect only those whose dependents are receiving relief at the present time, it was stated today.

TO PLANT MANY TREES
Springfield, Ill., Mar. 30—(AP)—More than 3,500,000 trees will be planted in Illinois during the next month, S. S. Locke, head of conservation work of the Civilian Conservation Corps announced today.

The tree-planting is a part of a wide-spread program to prevent soil erosion and subsequent loss to farmers of the state. Trees are being placed where erosion has been the greatest menace in the past.

Planting has started in southern Illinois and as the season advances will be started in the northern part of the state. Most of the projects are near sites of CCC camps.

"Black locust trees are used almost exclusively because they are exceptionally hardy, fast growing, and their roots are a type which prevents erosion," Locke stated.

Title to the trees remains vested in the government, but farmers may have trees upon application. They are said to be particularly suited for fence posts, and therefore of double value to farmers.

Plan State Program
Illinois' part in the federal program to plan future public works and conservation programs was discussed at a meeting of the State Planning Commission, Robert A. Kingery, Director of the Public Works Department, announced today.

The commission, organized to cooperate with the federal project will submit a report to Washington July 1 making recommendations for land utilization, industrial and transportation projects, and conservation work in the future.

More than 35 per cent of the report is completed, Col. Henry W. Kellogg, State Planning Engineer, told the commission. It will be ready for submission to the National Planning Board, a subsidiary of the Public Works Administration, July 1.

The state commission will soon be divided into regional sub-committees, to consider specific proposals to be included in the program, Kingery stated.

Among the members of the commission present were Dean H. W. Mumford, Dean of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture; W. C. Huntington, Urbana; C. M. Mowbray, Chicago; W. W. McLaughlin, Director of the Agriculture Department; C. F. Thompson

33 LEE COUNTY YOUNG MEN ARE WANTED IN CCC

New Regulations Covering Enrollment are Received Here

A requisition for 33 young men from Lee county, to be enrolled in the CCC camps, has been received by local county registrar, Tim Sullivan. Registration for this group will begin at the city hall Monday morning at 9 o'clock and continue through Tuesday, closing at 5 o'clock. The physical examinations by a United States Army officer will be held at a later date when the contingent selection is determined.

The rules governing this quota are decidedly different from those previously issued and the order for the Lee county group provides as follows:

"The work is to be given primarily to young men between the ages of 18 and 25, who are citizens of the United States, unmarried and unemployed, who wish to volunteer for this work, and who wish to allot a substantial portion of their $30 monthly cash allowance to their dependents. In addition, there will be selected a certain number of older men, married or unmarried, who live near the work projects, who are unemployed, and who have had actual experience in work in the forests. MARCH

March, March, fickle March
Made summer breezes blow,
Promptly changed his mind again,
Brought the ice and snow.
Next came a sunny day,
But when the north wind blew again
We sang another tune.
Why are you so tricky, March,
Why try to be them all?
Still, we have to welcome you,
If just for one small thing:
You're the only month, March,
That ushers in the spring.
Yet we do not trust you, March,
We've seen your tricks before,
We're never sure you're gone,
March.

Till April shuts the door,

Louise Brewster Bride of Forrest Trautwein Mar. 29

Mr. Hughes Brewster of this city announces the marriage of his sister, Louise, to Forrest J. Trautwein at 5:30 Thursday afternoon, March 29, at the LaPayette Hotel, Clinton, Iowa. The ceremony was solemnized in the presence of Mrs. E. A. Hughes of Clinton, an aunt of the bride, and her brother, Hughes Brewster. The bride wore an attractive suit of blue with hat and accessories of a similar shade.

Following a dinner for the wedding party at Hotel LaPayette Mr. and Mrs. Trautwein left on a short motor trip, and upon their return will make their home in Dixon at 105 East Boyd street.

The groom formerly resided near Odell, Kansas. He has been employed for the last several years in the office of the Illinois Northern Utilities Company in this city.

Miss Brewster, who is a Sigma Kappa sorority member, attended the University of Illinois, receiving her degree in 1930. Since then she has devoted considerable time to Girl Scout work, and has taken courses in weaving in San Francisco, Calif., and Penland, North Carolina. She is a member of a distinguished and prominent Dixon family.

Art Exhibit at Kable Inn Galleries Rietzel's Paintings

Mt. Morris, Ill., March 30—An art exhibit of unusual interest in galleries here. It is a one-man show of the paintings of Marquis E. Rietzel, head of the art department of Rockford College, and one of the best of the so-called modernists in art.

The collection covers landscapes, marines, farm scenes, and interpretations of the contemporary machine age, such as "The Six-Fifteen," a dramatic railway station scene at train arrival time, and "Detour," a powerful canvas showing a broken-down truck against the snowy waste of winter landscape. His woodland scenes and his marines, vivid in the blaze of noonday sun or dramatically shadowed with thunderclouds, reveal this artist's penchant for vibrant color, especially electric blues, greens and yellows. His farm scenes have none of the placidity usually associated with such paintings; they teem with drama. All of Rietzel's canvasses, in fact, seem to have this exciting quality of something-about-to-happen. It is evident that they have been painted with enormous zest as well as carefully planned force and virility of design.

Prof. Rietzel's paintings have been exhibited in the foremost art museums of the United States where many of them won important awards. He has permanent exhibits in the Public School Art Society and the Municipal Collections for Public Schools in Chicago.

A World War veteran, and still under forty, Prof. Rietzel's reputation as a teacher of art is as well established as his reputation as a painter of prize-winning canvasses. He has been professor of art at Rockford College since 1923, and is head of the Rockford Art Association.

His one-man show will remain open to free public inspection at the Kable Inn art galleries through the month of April. In addition to fifteen large oil paintings, there are four small water-colors, brilliantly painted.

Meeting of Prairieville Social Circle

The Prairieville Social Circle held an all day meeting at the Prairieville church Wednesday, and enjoyed a real social time. At noon the usual picnic dinner was served, the special feature of which was two lovely birthday cakes, honoring the birthdays of Mrs. Ella Horner and Mrs. Minnie Dollmyer.

There was little business so the business meeting was short. No program having been prepared, the afternoon was spent in exchanging favorite recipes, and also in assisting with some sewing brought by members of the society. A very enjoyable day was spent by the 19 members, five guests and three children present.

In the late afternoon, all departed for their homes, to meet in two weeks at the church.

Helpful Hints For Housewives

Lobster Filling Makes Tasty Cocktail Wafers

Attractive and tasty appetizers to serve with cocktails can be prepared by spreading thin slices of white bread with lobster, minced and combined with chopped celery, pickle and salad dressing.

After slicing the bread and spreading the mixture roll up each piece like a tiny jelly roll, wrap in waxed paper and place in the ice box until serving time. Then cut off slices one-third of an inch thick. They may be eaten easily from the hands.

Butter-Baked Crackers
Easily Prepared For Tea

Delicious wafers may be prepared quickly for unexpected callers by spreading salted crackers with butter and browning them in the oven.

Another method is to remove the toasted crackers, put a chunk of butter on each one, then replace in the oven. The butter melts in and makes tasty wafers.

Wash Tomatoes Before Scalding and Peeling

With spring here, tomatoes soon will become important times of the diet. First they should be washed, then covered with boiling water so the skins may be removed easily. Next dip them in cold water.

If a tomato cup is to be made, the tomatoes should be neither scalded nor peeled. After being washed, they should be cut from the stem end and the pulp removed.

Left-over biscuits, rolls or corn bread may be cut into strips and toasted until well browned and then served with soups or salads.

Fat Can Be Used Again
Fat in which doughnuts or similar foods have been fried can be cleared by stretching cloth across the top of a jar and pouring the warm melted fat through it.

LADIES OF G. A. R. TO MEET MONDAY AFTERNOON—
A regular meeting of the Ladies of the Grand Army will be held Monday afternoon in G. A. R. hall at 2:30 o'clock. The April committee members are: Della Corning, Hannah Christensen, Susan Conley, Bess Pitcher Crabtree, Frances Dixon, Anna Ditzler, Hattie Dodge and Mabelle Dail. An election for the office of registrar will be held to fill that vacancy.

AMBOY LADIES AID TO MEET WEDNESDAY—
The Amboy Ladies Aid of the Amboy Lutheran church will meet Wednesday at the home of Rev. and Mrs. A. G. Suechting at 2 o'clock.

PHIDIANS WILL MEET ON TUESDAY—
The Phidian Art Club will meet Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. C. B. Morrison, 122 Dement avenue. Mrs. J. N. Weiss will have the paper of the afternoon, "Words on Wings."

Fred Bybee Surprised on Birthday

Fred Bybee of Amboy was pleasantly surprised Thursday evening at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Berry. The affair celebrated his birthday which occurred March 21. Those present included Mr. Bybee, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Frost, Mr. and Mrs. William Lafferty, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Daw of Franklin Grove, Mrs. Hazel Walters, Mr. and Mrs. Berry and son Wallace, George P. Flint, Raymond and Ronald Bybee. The evening was spent in playing 500 and prizes for high score were won by Mrs. William Lafferty and Fred Bybee.

PLAN SOCIAL AND DANCE FOR THURSDAY EVENING, APRIL 5th—

Sublette's Firemen will sponsor a box social and dancing party at Armory Hall in Sublette, Thursday evening, April 5, according to an announcement made this week. Those who have enjoyed the fine parties sponsored by the Firemen in the past are expected to fill the hall next Thursday evening for they know the good time in store for them. Leake's orchestra of Amboy will furnish the music. Col. John Gentry will serve in the capacity of auctioneer for the sale of boxes.

LADIES OF G. A. R. TO MEET MONDAY AFTERNOON—

THE BRAIN'S EXTREMES.

It is very seldom, thank heaven, that there is anything in the newspapers quite as horrible as the story of the Akron business man who threw his baby son into the furnace "because the Lord told me to."

One hardly needs to await the report of the psychiatrists to know that the man was deranged. He just had come home from a hospital, after being hurt in an auto accident; he had been "talking strangely"; a friend had asked the man's wife to hide his gun, if he had one, fearing that he might do something desperate.

But no one foresaw, or could have foreseen the frightful thing that he actually did do.

What a strange and terrifying thing the working of the human brain is, after all! Let a bit of bone press lightly on the brain somewhere—and a kind, intelligent man is turned into a fiend incarnate.

Derange a few brain cells—and all the graces of mind and heart cancel themselves, somehow, and leave only a thing of horror.

HOW TAXES AFFECT LAND VALUES.

Millard Peck, professor of agricultural economics at Iowa college of agriculture, says that if the tax per acre on a piece of land drops $1, the value of the land automatically increases about $20 an acre.

Taxes on corn belt land valued at $100 an acre probably will average about $1.50 an acre, so there is small chance of a reduction of $1 an acre in the tax bill. Nevertheless the computations of the professor are of interest and may be made a basis of such figuring as may be based upon actual conditions. It is a matter of simple interest, but not every one may analyze the problem. He says:

"The tax load influences the value of land. If the tax per acre on a piece of land drops $1 an acre, the value of the land automatically increases about $20 an acre, figuring interest at 5 per cent. In other words, the interest on $20 at 5 percent is $1. The purchaser of land should inquire carefully into the local tax situation."

Most of us who are not buying or selling land think of the tax only as an annual expense item, not computing its effect upon the value of a farm. Yet, a reduction of 50 cents an acre in taxes not only reduces the annual expense charged against the farm, but makes the capital account worth an additional $1600 on a 160-acre farm.

The question is how to get the 50-cent reduction.

CAUSE OF INEFFICIENCY.

Every so often we are told that the United States needs a Scotland Yard—which, to be sure, is undeniably true. The latest plea comes from Governor Ely of Massachusetts, who has asked the state legislature to draw up a plan for such institution.

What we usually fail to remember, however, is the fact that it is not so much new police machinery that is needed as a new spirit on the part of the office-holders to whom the police ultimately are responsible.

Scotland Yard would function no better than the Chicago police if Scotland Yard were subjected to the same kind of political pulling and hauling that afflicts the Chicago force.

Before our police systems will stand comparison with the London system, we must divorce them from politics. And that, considering everything, will take some doing.

NEED FOR PROTECTION.

A New York judge the other day called attention to a glaring flaw in the legal machinery which is supposed to protect citizens from financial loss as the result of automobile accidents.

His warning was issued after a New Yorker had struck a man and his wife with his auto. The couple sued him and won a judgment of $6500. The motorist promptly filed a petition in bankruptcy, citing the judgment against him as his only liability and his assets as nothing.

As a result, the motorist got off scot free, and the people he had injured were unable to collect a red cent.

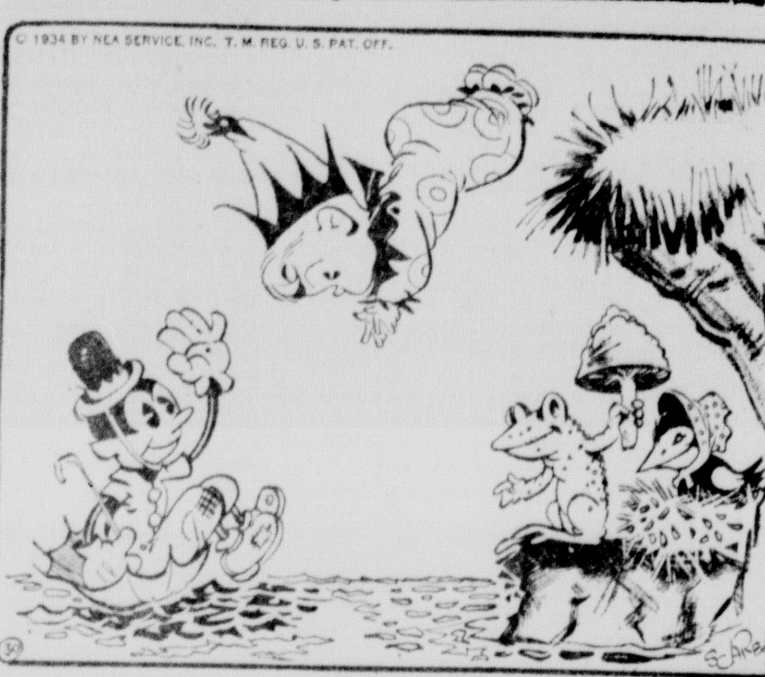

To the judge, this case stood as a warning of the need for a compulsory liability insurance law; and the judge's viewpoint looks very sound. No man should be permitted to drive a car unless it is certain that anyone he may injure will be able to get financial redress from him.

The ant who floated 'round in air yelled, "Hey, you 'Tinymites', down there, please try and find a lasso and then pull me to the ground."

"At first I didn't mind a bit, this ride, but now I'm sick of it. I can't steer this bumbershoot, so I go 'round and 'round'."

Then Nature Nick exclaimed, "I'll get a rope and then I'll gladly let wee Scouty haul it up toward you. He's pretty good with ropes."

"Hurray for you!" the ant cried out. "I'll soon be with you all, no doubt. I'm anxious to get down from here, and you've built up my hopes."

As Nature Nick ran through the trees, there came a very sudden breeze. It took the ant and carried him far, far away from shore.

"Oh, wouldn't things turn out this way!" said Scouty. "He's too far away for me to reach him with a rope. We're in a fix, once more."

When Nick came back, he quite agreed. And then the bumbershoot took speed an dashed back toward the Tinies. Dotty cried, "It's dropping, now."

"Right in the water it will land. Oh, goodness, can't we lend a hand? We'll simply have to save that frightened little ant, somehow."

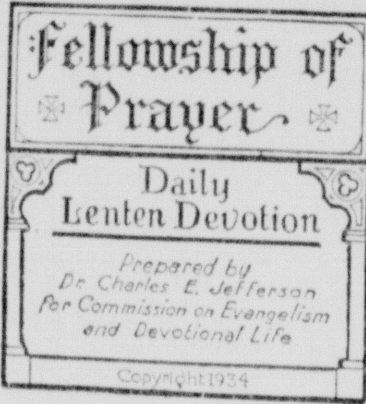

"Leave it to me," brave Duncy cried. "There's nothing gained if nothing's tried. The ant is in the water, now. Right out to him I'll swim."

"He's small, you see, and very light. I'll get him back to shore all right. I've had a lot of rest of late, so I am right in trim."

"Ah, bravo!" shouted Goldy. "Gee you're just as brave as you can be." Then in jumped little Duncy.

"Take it easy," Coppy cried. "You'll pull the rescue, lad, no doubt, unless fast swimming lives you out. In just about a minute you'll be at the wee ant's side."

(Scouty helps Duncy and the ant in the next story.)

FRIDAY, MARCH 30
(Read Matthew XXVII:39-49)
"There Was Darkness Over All the Land"

The last two prayers of Jesus on the cross are quotations from the Psalter. From boyhood Jesus had been familiar with the poets of Israel, and had nourished his heart on their visions and praises. Vivid phrases of men of genius cling to us, and have a fashion of stealing into the mind when one is passing through a crucial experience; and the experiences of despondency and despair, no less than verses of rapture and triumph give comfort to the soul in the hours of affliction. It comforts one to know that some dolorous way, as Jesus was dragged down deeper and deeper into the abyss of desolation a poem wrung from the tortured soul of a sufferer of long ago flitted through his mind. "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken me?" Some nameless hero had struggled so long against cruel world, he had come to feel for a moment that even God had forsaken him. Jesus is now drinking the same bitter cup. When we drink the cup of despair we are companions of Jesus.

Prayer:
O God, there are times when our only prayer is a question. Life is a black mystery and in the darkness we cry. Why? Oh why? How long? Oh how long? We find relief in asking questions for which there is no answer. Teach us to be patient. Help us to wait. Amen.

Daily Health Talk

SNORING

Snoring would never be listed as one of the important medical problems or difficulties. Essentially an esthetic disability, it is the health of those that must listen to the snoring, rather than that of the snorer, that is liable to suffer.

There are two types of snoring, with the mouth closed and with the mouth open. The latter is the more common. It may be witnessed both in children and adults. The closed mouth snoring is found only in adults. Both varieties of snoring are more common in men than in women.

Aside from the esthetic aspect of snoring, it also has some undesirable physical effects upon the sufferer. Thus, in the open-mouth type of snoring, the individual breathes through his mouth and this tends to dry the mucous membranes of his throat. Upon waking the snorer is liable to find that his throat is dry, sore and sensitive.

The most common cause of snoring is obstruction of the nasal passageway. This may be due to a deformity of the nose or to such conditions as a deflected septum or middle wall, large adenoids, chronic nasal catarrh, enlargement of the turbinates, nasal polyps, etc. The treatment of snoring includes, therefore, examination of the nose and throat, and the removal of all possible causes of nasal obstruction. The fact that the nose is fairly free for breathing during the daytime does not prevent the possibility of its becoming blocked when a person falls asleep. Spongy tissue in the nose may become engorged.

Some persons snore despite the fact that their breathing apparatus is completely clear and free. In such persons snoring must be considered merely a bad habit. For the closed mouth variety of snoring, there are no known effective remedies. For the individual who snores with his mouth open, a few experts recommend bandaging, that is, a support-like bandage is made to go around and under the lower jaw.

GOOD THOUGHTS

Every man is worth as much as the things are worth about which he busies himself.

—Marcus Aurelius

He that does good to another does good also to himself, not only in the consequence, but in the very act.

—Seneca

All higher motives, ideals, conceptions, sentiments in man are of no account if they do not come forward to strengthen him for the better discharge of the duties which devolve upon him in the ordinary affairs of life.

—Henry Ward Beecher

Take care to do nothing at random or without some good end in view, and let your actions have nothing in view but the good of mankind.

—Marcus Aurelius

In order that we may express good in action, this word "good" should be constantly in our hearts, and on our lips. We should think of good in connection with our agricultural, engineering, secretarial, or other work, and prove it so. In performing our daily duties, we should hold to the idea of perfection behind the duties and so find the way of good accomplishment. In praise of God's creation each one can do good work in his own line and can regard this work as affording a means to this lofty end.

—Christian Science Sentinel

Trust in the Lord and do good—so shalt thou dwell in the land and verily thou shalt be fed.

—Psalms 37

BRETHREN CHURCH

Wm. E. Thompson, Pastor
Everyone should go to church and Sunday school on Easter Sunday. The primary department will present a short program at the opening of the school at 10:00 A. M. This promises to be something good. All members and friends of the church are invited to meet with us in our Sunday school.

Easter services will be conducted by the pastor following Sunday school, and new members will be received into the church. The Easter Chorus will sing "Easter Bells" and "Christ is Risen."

"The Story of the Cross."

The story of the Cross will be given in the evening service at 7:00 P. M. by the Mixed Chorus, the pastor and others. This will be a very interesting service, and will be enjoyed by both old and young. The service will be as follows:

Scripture Reading Ethel McWethly.

Piano Solo Dorothy Plowman

"The Call of the Cross" The Pastor

"In the Cross of Christ I Glory" The Chorus

"Victory in the Cross" The Pastor

"King of Kings" The Chorus

"Jesus Is Calling" The Chorus

"The Congregation" The Chorus

Holy Week Services

"Darkness and Sunshine" will be the subject used by Rev. Thompson in the Holy Week services to night. There will be special selections, an illustrated hymn, and a story by Mrs. Thompson for the boys and girls who have been so faithful during this series of meetings.

The attendance last night was good, and the delegation from the West Branch congregation with their selection of vocal music was very much appreciated. Mrs. McClain and daughter, Rose Mary, and Elsie Krug and Opa Wade also sang numbers that were fitting for the occasion. The service begins tonight at 7:30. There will be no service Saturday night.

BONUS BILL IS IN SENATE NOW; NO GREAT RUSH

Administration Leaders
See Only Slight
Chance for It

Washington, March 30—(AP)—Senate administration leaders think privately that the $2,000,000, "greenback-bonus" bill has little chance of becoming law this session.

The House has approved the measure, and it now is in the Senate Finance committee. Chairman Harrison (D. Miss.) indicated today there would be no rush by his committee even to consider the bill. Harrison was one of those who stood with the President on the veterans' bill veto earlier this week. One Democratic leader pointed out that the Senate has twice voted "no" on the bonus this session, and he believes it would do so again. Even should the bill be passed, he is of the opinion that insufficient votes could be mustered to override the Presidential veto that would be certain to follow.

Some members of the powerful veterans' bloc do not agree entirely with the view that the measure will be sidetracked or beaten; several hold hope of an early Senate vote on it.

Pittman Substitute
Senator Pittman (D. Nev.) has introduced a substitute measure. He proposes to pay veterans the amount of their adjusted service credit, plus interest at 4 1/2 per cent compounded annually since the armistice. The total would be less than that of the Pittman (House) bill.

Instead of issuing "greenbacks" to pay the cost, Pittman would do it by the issuance of Treasury bonds or notes. He would set up a sinking fund to pay off the Treasury indebtedness by the purchase of 2,000,000,000 ounces of silver.

Neither the Senate nor House were concerned with the veterans issue today, however, both chambers being in recess until Monday.

SUPREME COURT APRIL DOCKET IS HEAVY ONE

A Number of Important
Cases Before Illinois Tribunal

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 30—(AP)—The April term of the Supreme Court will convene Tuesday, April 3, with an exceptionally heavy docket of cases to consider.

More than ninety cases are on the adjournment docket for the term, which usually lasts about three weeks. Petitions for rehearing have been filed in 35 cases, including most of the important decisions handed down at the February term of court.

Among the important cases to be considered is the petition for rehearing in the Jack Lieber case, which knocked out the method of choosing Cook county grand jurors and invalidated convictions of many recent criminal cases.

Two Attorneys Plead
Both Attorney General Otto Kerner and Thomas J. Courtney, State's Attorney of Cook County, have asked for a review of the case.

Arguments for re-opening of the civil suits against Len Small, former Governor, will be heard April 11. Kerner seeks to have the court order either a new trial of the suit in Cook county or a trial in Sangamon county.

Among the other cases which will be considered are the constitutionality of the land disconnection act; the conviction of John Bain and his sons, Chicago bankers; and the suit of Alice Brown Huff, Springfield, for a writ of mandamus ordering her reinstatement in the state Insurance Department.

A paltry $5000 a month must suffice to support Nancy Leiter, 17, above, granddaughter of the late Levi S. Leiter of Chicago. Instead of the $7500 to which she has been accustomed. ROOSEVELT IN SHORT VISIT AT NASSAU TODAY

Had "Good Fishing"
Yesterday Brief
Report Stated

Miami, Fla., March 30—(AP)—Sailing the warm blue waters of the Bahamas in absolute relaxation, President Roosevelt neared Nassau today for a brief visit.

He planned a stop in this Capital of the Bahamas but the schedule called for a departure by noon.

The first full day out at sea yesterday brought "good fishing" for the President, but the details of the catch were lacking.

Vincent Astor, owner of the yacht Nourmahal and host to Mr. Roosevelt, reported last night to Marvin H. McIntyre, a secretary to the President established at headquarters in the Miami Biltmore Hotel here.

"Now under way for Nassau after good fishing day. Leaving about noon."

TARIFF TREATY BILL WILL PASS AFTER A DEBATE

Senate Leaders Look for Reciprocal Bill to be Enacted

Washington—The Agricultural Adjustment Administration announced it would seek an injunction to prevent Lloyd Shissler, Chicago milk dealer whose license to handle milk has been revoked, from distributing milk in the Chicago sales area in the future. It will be the first case brought by the AAA to enforce terms of its milk marketing licenses.

Washington, March 30—(AP)—After a round of good old-fashioned tariff debate the Senate is expected to pass Roosevelt's reciprocal treaty bill virtually "as is."

That was the prediction today of both Democratic and Republican leaders as they surveyed the measure passed along to them yesterday by the House.

Although the bill will probably remain in committee for more than a week, its appearance on the floor will end with a bang the four years of surcease from general tariff debate since Congress built the highest tariff wall in history during the Hoover administration.

Life Is Limited
After several days of comparatively listless argument, split distinctly along party lines, the Roosevelt-approved proposal passed the House yesterday 272 to 111. It was first amended, however, to limit its life to three years and to prevent any reductions of foreign debt.

It would authorize the President to negotiate tariff-reduction agreement with foreign nations without submitting them to the Senate for approval as is required with other treaties. It also empowers the President to change tariff rates 50 per cent up or down, without recommendation from the Tariff Commission as is now the law.

The change to limit the authority of the President to three years was expected to eliminate a big talking point in the Senate.

Democratic members from industrial states like Walsh of Massachusetts, had indicated they would oppose the legislation unless it placed on an emergency basis.

22 Counties Aren't Eligible for WFR

Chicago—With only 80 of the 102 Illinois counties eligible in the state relief program, Secretary Wilfred S. Reynolds of the Emergency Relief Commission, said the jobs in 22 ineligible counties may work in exchange for food and other necessary relief items, but not for cash wages. Ineligible counties are Brown, Calhoun, Clay, Cumberland, Douglas, Edwards, Ford, Hamilton, Jasper, Johnson, Kendall, Menard, Monroe, Moultrie, Piatt, Pope, Putnam, Schuyler, Scott, Stark, White and Woodford.

WANTED: REPUBLICANS

in DeKalb, Lee and Whiteside counties to vote for George F. Prescott for State Senator. We are not trying to tell anyone whom they should vote for, but we do wish to present the merits of a friend. Always willing to donate his time to help a neighbor, three years ago Mr. Prescott realizing the straits of his countrymen, decided to give all his time to help solve the other fellow's problems. And for these years has been traveling from city to city addressing groups of business men, community centers and trying to help them work out of their difficulties.

Not having had a vacation for fifteen years, February last he decided to go south for a short time. On Feb. 15th, at 1 A. M., he was called out of bed in New Orleans to answer a long distance call from Sterling, Illinois. His fellow countrymen had met and decided to ask him to run for State Senator, and if he would accept they would meet him at Springfield with his petition all ready for filing. Mr. Prescott has not seen a single name on his petition, and can only guess who may have signed it.

No greater honor than this can come to anyone, and it must call forth the best there is in any man.

In these days when the new dealers are shaping our country and starting us on paths the end of which no man knows, with our government grabbing control of so many industries, must it be that business is no longer to enjoy freedom, or to have the liberties once the pride of our nation? Must their zeal to remake the world along lines of their own thinking drive our country down a road which leads to conditions which obtain in Russia and Germany and Italy today? Will the sun set on a race of slaves in America and are those slaves to be our business men spending their time thumbing the pages of what they may do and what they may not do?

This seems to be only the beginning, for many times it has been suggested to force our farmers into line, and this will be done with taxes which make any but one choice prohibitive. In the midst of all these things we are delighted that Mr. Prescott has been drafted for public service. A man who inherited nothing but his mother's bible, and by hard work and rigid economy has earned the confidence of his fellow men.

"God give us men! A time like this demands Strong minds, great hearts, true faith, ready hands; Men whom the lust of office does not kill; Men whom the spoils of office can not buy; Men who possess opinions and a will; Men who have honor—men who will not lie; Men who can stand before a demagogue, And damn his treacherous flatteries without winking; Tall men, sun-crowned men who live above the fog In public duty and in private thinking; For while the rabble with their thumb-worn creeds, Their large professions and their little deeds— Mingle in selfish strife, Lo! freedom weeps; Wrong rules the land, and waiting justice sleeps."

This editorial is paid for by a citizens committee, all of whom realize the extreme necessity of honest, sincere representation for all the people in all three counties.

MORE IMPORT
THAN SCHOOLSSo Legislators Take a Recess Until After
Primary Election

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 30.—(AP)—Primary campaigns were regarded as being more important than school and legislation so the General Assembly is now in recess until April 17.

The Assembly ended seven weeks of futile bickering and political wrangling late Wednesday, when both houses adjourned so that members could hurry back to their bailiwicks in quest of votes for re-election.

When they departed they left behind not a single bill which will bring any immediate replenishment to the tills of financially distressed schools.

While House and Senate have passed the measure diverting liquor tax revenues to the school distributive fund—the only school aid measure which got through both houses—they neglected to pass the companion bill making the appropriation.

The diversion bill without the appropriation measure is worthless.

But the failure to pass the appropriation is probably of small moment anyway. Governor Horner reiterated his intention of vetoing the liquor diversion bill.

In addition to passing the liquor diversion measure, the Senate yesterday passed two other school aid bills, neither of which have yet received House sanction.

One of the Senate bills gives to the school distributive fund all sales tax receipts in excess of $2,500,000 a month.

The other—sponsored by the Horner administration—diverts one third of the gasoline taxes to school aid for one year. The Senate was unable to muster a two-thirds vote for this bill so even if it is later passed by the House and approved by the Governor it would not become effective until July 1 with the result that the schools would receive no financial aid from it until after August 1.

Governor Horner described the legislature's efforts to date as "an effort to take a vacation."

TOOK PILLS FOR 30 YEARS, THEN CEREAL
BROUGHT RELIEF

Mr. Forsythe Endorses ALL-BRAN for Constipation

If you suffer from headaches, loss of appetite and energy or any other of the frequent effects of constipation, read this voluntary letter:

"After taking pills and tablets for about thirty years for constipation, I started to take your ALL-BRAN three times a day according to directions. Today I can eat cheese, and that is binding, and certainly feel fine."—Mr. Ed. Forsythe, Box 219, Youngstown, N. Y.

Science says ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regular habits. In addition, ALL-BRAN is rich in blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using patent medicines—so often habit-forming?

Just eat two tablespoons daily. In serious cases use with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

live gesture which accomplishes nothing."

Where the fault for the Assembly's failure to do anything concrete for the school lies depends largely on political view point.

Each Blames Other

Democrats blame Republicans and Republicans blame Democrats. Non-partisan observers blame both.

Republicans advanced the plan to divert sales and liquor taxes to the schools; Democrats championed the gas tax diversion program.

School organizations, instead of concentrating their efforts on any one program, agreed to take all three—a manifest impossibility.

The Horner administration opposed the Republican plan for taking the liquor and sales tax revenues and the Republicans were just as active in their opposition to diverting gasoline taxes.

The Republican minority was joined in its efforts to stop the gas tax diversion program by the Illinois Municipal League, the Illinois Agricultural Association, numerous associations of contractors, cement mills and oil refineries. With this strong backing for the minority, the Democratic majority was checkmated in its efforts to pass the gas diversion bill with an emergency clause.

Many House and Senate Democrats voted with Republicans to divert liquor taxes in an effort to "do something before the primary" but failure to pass the appropriation bill has, in reality, resulted in doing nothing to date.

Living Our Everyday Lives

A COLLEGE OF JOKES

At a meeting of the Mark Twain Society a speaker advocated the teaching of humor in our colleges. The fact that we have no chair of humor in any American college is a tragedy, he said.

Whether he kept a straight face when he made the suggestion, is not reported. No doubt he did, because as Mark Twain well knew a joke is at its best when it is told with a solemn, affable face.

By all means let us have a chair of humor; it would be worth going miles to see. How serious the lectures would be—analyzing a joke to see how it is made, and drawing a diagram to show what it means.

A laboratory of laughter! What a happy idea—a telescope to detect the approach of a joke, and a microscope to examine it with a critical eye.

Many House and Senate Democrats voted with Republicans to divert liquor taxes in an effort to "do something before the primary" but failure to pass the appropriation bill has, in reality, resulted in doing nothing to date.

As a text-book we have the Philosophy of Laughter, by Bergson, in which he tells us what makes us do it. When a man acts like a thing, or a thing acts like a man, he argues, it is funny and we laugh.

The works of Mark Twain might serve as a reference library, with Artemus Ward, Chesteron and Mr. Dooley as required reading. To which ought to be added the famous Ge. an Dictionary of American Slang.

It was Bernard Shaw who called attention to the Dictionary, on which a solemn old Professor worked for years, trying to find the roots and derivations of such words as bunk, flunk, punk, and the like.

The definitions were fearfully and wonderfully made, and to hear Shaw expound and discuss them was better than a circus. He thought it the funniest book, next to his own, ever written in any language.

But, alas and alack, humor like religion cannot be taught; it can only be caught. If a man can catch it he is lucky; if he cannot, it is just too bad. If he is immune to its contagion his case is hopeless.

For the grace of humor is akin to the grace of God—a free gift. Happy is the man in whose soul "love laughs with life." He is not far from the kingdom of God which is a kingdom of the joyous life!

Celebrated Rise of the Nile

In the days of the Pharaohs it was believed that unless certain prescribed ceremonies were performed with due reverence to the proper time and place, the Nile river would refuse to rise. The celebrations were participated in by all classes, with great pomp and ceremony. They began when the river commenced to rise, and the rejoicings were proportionate to the height of the rise.

Of course you will specify Sausage, cement, Dixon product, when in the market for cement.

TO HOLD RITES FOR MRS. JOHN SWANSON AT R. F.

Former Dixon Resident to be Laid to Rest
on Saturday

The funeral of Mrs. John Swanson, 78, formerly of this city, whose death in Rock Falls early Thursday morning was announced in The Telegraph last evening, will be held at her late home Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. J. F. Corpe, pastor of the Rock Falls Congregational church, officiating and with burial in Riverside cemetery, Sterling.

Amelia Sandberg was born February 3, 1856, in Sweden. She was married there on July 20, 1878, to John A. Swanson, and with her husband came to the United States. They lived for a number of years in Dixon and moved to Rock Falls 30 years ago.

Besides her husband Mrs. Swanson is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Harvey M. Johnson and Miss Emma Swanson, in the home, and Miss Alice Swanson, in the home. She also leaves two sons, William and Harvey Johnson, Jr., of Oak Park, and two nieces and two nephews. They are Mrs. William Hintz, of Dixon, Mrs. Charles Nelson of Berwyn, and Albert and Carl Hasselberg of Dixon. Two sons died in infancy and one daughter, Hilma, passed away in October, 1917.

During her residence in Dixon Mrs. Swanson was a member of the St. Paul's Lutheran church. When she went to Rock Falls she affiliated with the Rock Falls Congregational church and was a member until her passing. She took part in the Mite Society and the Woman's Bible class of the church, being a member of both groups. She was a charter member of the Rock Falls Woman's club.

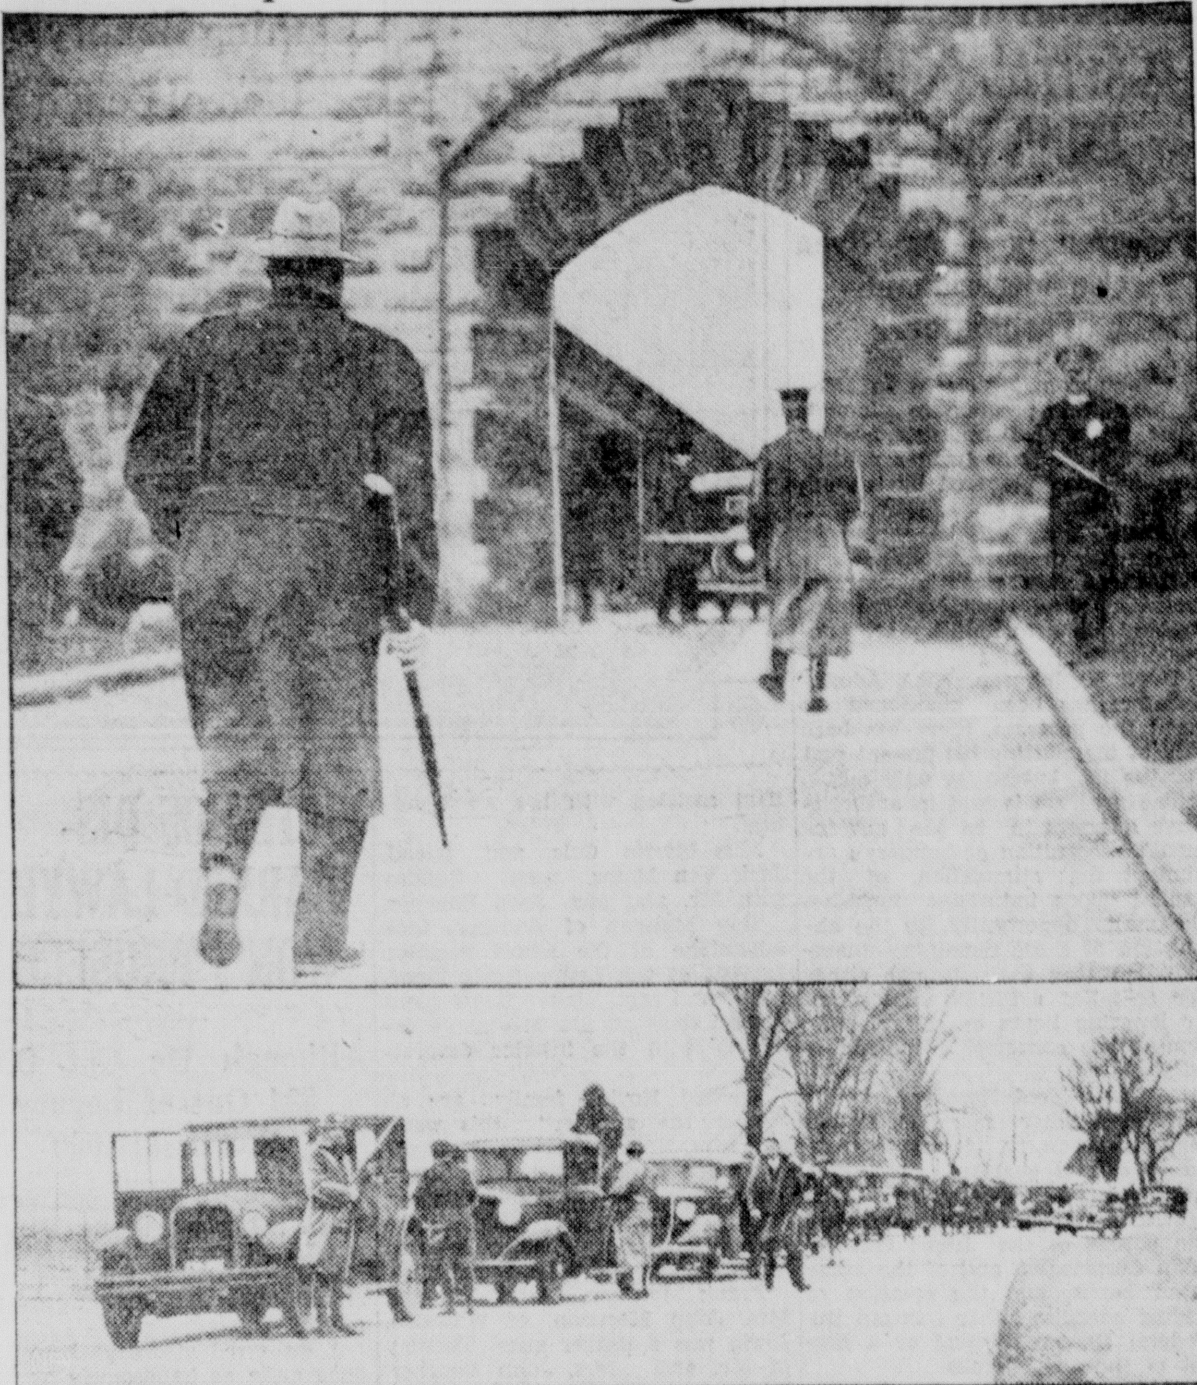

Travelers' Aid Work

The first nonsectarian committee organized to do travelers' aid work grew out of the plans for the St. Louis exposition in 1904. A member of the Young Women's Christian association saw a need for placing the unco-ordinated work in New York city on such a co-operative and nonsectarian basis, and in 1905 she brought about the formation of a committee of Protestant, Catholic and Jewish women, to make a survey of the work in that city. The resulting nonsectarian, noncommercial Travelers' Aid society of the city of New York thus became the first independently organized agency for the protection and assistance of travelers.

River Nile, Life of Egypt

Modern irrigation systems and the introduction of the methods of regulating the waters of the Nile river assure Egypt of a continuous agricultural production—if not in cotton, then in sugar; if not in sugar, then in fruits, vegetables and cereals, but always in some product of the soil.

Rescue Hope Fades as Dillinger's Pals Enter Prison

Hope of rescue faded for three Dillinger gangsters as they passed under the entrance arch and behind the massive walls of Ohio state prison at Columbus, shown in the upper picture as the last car of the caravan disappeared within. More than 20 cars, bristling with guns, escorted Harry Pierpont and Charles Makley, sentenced to die July 13, and Russell Clark, given a life term, for the murder of Sheriff Jess Sarber, from Lima, O., scene of their conviction. Below is the "moving arsenal."

Havoc in Wake of New Orleans Tornado

Whole rows of houses went over like dominoes when a sudden tornado swept through the Gentry district of New Orleans reducing homes to matchwood and littering the streets with snapped telephone poles, wrecked autos and street cars, as shown here. More than 40 were hurt and damage rose above $250,000.

RAINEY'S BLACK LIST IS GROWING MOST SPEEDILY

Only About 25 Members of Own Party Have Not Been Listed

Washington, March 30—(AP)—Speaker Rainey's self-styled "blacklist" of Democrats who have voted against the administration has grown so long that only about 25 members of the House majority now lack a black mark.

In fact, since Rainey started to add the names of the Republicans voting against Roosevelt measures, what some call "the little black book" has become almost unwieldy.

The white-haired Speaker said today, however, that possibly this week-end, and certainly next week, he will remind the country for the Republicans who have voted against the President.

Add Republicans

His tabulators were busy today adding 99 Republicans to the list—they voted yesterday against the administration's reciprocal tariff bill.

The tabulators have just about finished with the 107 Republicans who balloted to override the presidential veto of the independent offices bill.

Democratic names still were being added, for the Speaker decided to include the 209 of that party who helped pass the independent offices bill over the veto. The 11 Democrats whose names went on the list were added.

The Speaker still says he does not intend to use the Democratic list, but just wants it around in case.

Must Carry a Light

You must carry a tail light if you wish to stroll the rural highways of Delaware at night. A state law makes it a misdemeanor for a promenade to ramble outside city or town limits without a lantern or light.

Tuberculosis Long Known

The earliest civilizations known to history have left records of tuberculosis. Egyptian mummies bear witness to its ravages 1,600 years before the Christian era, and Chinese historians record the disease in the Sixth century B. C. The tuberculosis germ was discovered in 1882 by a German physician, Dr. Robert Koch.

Importing a Pigmy No Small Matter

For a little fellow Gogo, a 30-year-old pigmy, can kick up a big fuss. Mrs. Hugo Rennert, Jr., a Washington, D. C., society matron, who was denied permission by the Spanish Embassy to import the talented vagrant from Spain, now plans to take the matter up with the Department of Labor. Gogo, bought by Mrs. Rennert's stepfather in Spanish Guinea, is shown (right) standing beside a three-year-old American boy.

ROMAN PRIESTS COMMEMORATED CHRIST'S DEATH

Mournful Services Held in Catholic Churches in Eternal City

Rome, March 30—(AP)—Black-vestmented priests, prostrated before the bare altars of Rome's many Catholic churches today, prayed long and earnestly in mournful commemoration of the death sacrifice made by Christ for mankind.

The basilicas and churches were stripped of ornament. Tapers and candles were removed. Drapes of deep purple and somber black covered the sacred images. No masses were said nor sacrifices offered.

The ceremony, which took place in all Roman churches, was called the "Presanctified," because of officiating priests partook in one kind only of a Eucharist which was consecrated yesterday. At that time two sacraments were blessed and one taken in procession to a so-called sepulchre, or altar of repose, so that the central altars might remain bare today.

Adoration of the Cross
Adoration of the holy cross marked worship at the four great basilicas. There, the many thousands of pilgrims now crowding Rome heard sermons based on Christ's reproaches to his crucifiers and saw relics of his passion and death.

Other devout pilgrims went to the holy stairs which are housed next to the basilica of St. John Lateran. There they ascended the stairs on their knees reciting a prayer at each step. At the top they knelt before a small chapel containing a likeness of Christ supposed to have been painted by Saint Luke on wood.

The stairs are said to be the ones which Christ ascended in the house of Pontius Pilate after he had been crowned with thorns.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
PABLITO, a handsome youth, becomes a fugitive when, due to circumstances beyond his control, he flees from Key West to Havana with BEAU and LOTTIE, two thieves.

Beau has killed a man and stolen a famous string of pearls at the Florida home of wealthy JIM FIELD. Pablito does not know this or that he himself is accused of the crime. Pablito loves Field's daughter, ESTELLE, and she loves him. MARCIA TREADWAY, known as Pablito's innocent but fears scandal if she tells this.

In Havana Pablito tries to find NOLAN NOYES who befriended him as a child but his efforts fail. Beau, impressed by Pablito's natural ability as a thief, arranges several profitable matches for him.

SIR AUREY, a titled Englishman and Pablito's father, begins a search for his son.

Marcia Treadway receives an invitation to visit the Fields in Havana.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXVI

PABLITO, known now as Juanito, was harder both in muscle and in viewpoint, leaner and slightly taller. He had learned in the last three years that entertaining valettoning millionaires was a job that never ended. Once he had let himself get a little soft and had been knocked out. The memory of that incident stayed with him. Because of it he rigorously avoided wine, women, late hours and other dissipations—both mild and otherwise.

The memory of that knockout was charted for him, also, in an uneven scar high on one cheek bone and echoing the slant of his eye.

Beau and Pablito had opened an establishment of their own on the outskirts of Havana beyond the Cristobal Colon Cemetery where jaded men could come for exercise and baths to bring back at least a hint of youthful vigor. Beau "kept 'em movin'." Lottie served them bouillon and dry biscuits, and a "rubber" did his work after they had been bathed, salted and had felt the force of a jet of ice water on their flesh. This business, as Beau said, "paid damned good." It was a smart venture in a land where tourists are often over-indulgent and later regret it.

The gymnasium was housed in a glaringly white building that had been altered to make it suitable. There reemerged men of flabby flesh wheezed loudly as, with eyes intent and cheeks puffed out, they pummeled one another, tripped, fell and executed footwork that made even Pablito smile. Later they would lie down, panting, only to be ordered to their baths by Beau, whose pitiless tongue could lash like a whip.

The same vague aura that takes men away from suave metropolitan clubs to a growling, bulldog-chinned trainer, made wealthy travelers desert luxurious hotels to go to Pablito's place. There they were lulled and ordered about, told in language that sometimes encompassed Elizabethan terms what they were and were not to do. Later they would emerge, pink of skin, refreshed and resolved to be more temperate.

PABLITO fought occasionally and always for a good purse. He still kept before him the dream of some day finding Noyes and of going away with him to some quiet, peaceful retreat. Beau evinced great scorn, concealing secret envy, for Pablito's ability to hold on to his money. "You're sure goin' to be a wealthy old miser!" he sneered often.

The thought that any of them should ever be apprehended for the murder at Field's Camp was troubling Beau less as, less. He had grown a small moustache that changed his appearance surprisingly. Lottie's hair had taken on an amazing shade of red and her eyebrows were plucked in a way that altered her expression. Pablito had changed, too, having grown taller and more slender. The scar on his cheek also gave him a different look. He was, moreover, known to all Havana as a favorite with the rich tourists. Yes, Pablito was secure. "Big Field himself couldn't touch him." Beau thought, "so long as he knocks out his man."

"You keep in shape!" he warned Pablito. "If you don't we'll all have to pay for it."

"Have you noticed me going out on any wild parties?"

"No. But, just the same, you watch your step."

"I'm doing it!" Pablito answered shortly.

They divided their earnings, which were large during the winter season, into thirds. Pablito, under the name of Juanito Lopez, bought land, invested in some sound bonds, gave prodigally to the orphanages of Cuba and gambled a little.

Across the hard-beaten road where each day plodded oxen with cane-laden carts, stood a suburban grocery store and in the apartment which was above Lottie, Pablito and Beau lived. The road was their front yard, the roof their garden. Beau who could lean over the rail of the open, twisting, rear stair to call "Cinco botellas de lager!" was satisfied since five bottles of lager were among the few things necessary for his peace. Pablito didn't care where they lived. Lottie murmured a good deal about dwelling in "a swell house" at La Playa de Marianao, the fashionable bathing beach where the Havana Yacht Club is located. "You can always see somethin' goin' on there," she pointed out but she never persuaded the others to move.

Pablito read avidly between workouts in the gymnasium, cross country runs and rub-downs. Books gave him the peace and forgetfulness he could find nowhere else. The truly happy, he realized, did not need an anodyne for life nor to turn sharply from the sweetness of the past because of its contrast with the present. He wondered often about Estelle Field—what she was doing, and where she might be and whether or not she was happy.

PABLITO had sent more than one messenger to Key West to search for Noyes but not one of them had found any trace of him. A lame old woman lived in the shack on the island, he learned. She had broken her hip a few years before, she told the inquirers, and it left her so that she could move only a few steps. She lived alone. Her old neighbors, she said, helped her. No, she had never seen a thin-faced, stoop-shouldered man who wore eye-glasses with heavy lenses. Never! God could witness that as truth. Never had she seen such a man!

Pablito would have found her protestations a bit too hearty but those he sent were so eager to see what the next turn of the road might bring that they missed this important sign post. Pablito had offered a large reward for finding this man whose name they did not know but whose description they could have narrated in their sleep.

Returning after the search each messenger pocketed his expense money and remuneration, concluding that the one he sought was dead.

But Pablito would not believe Noyes was dead. He lived only for his dream of some day finding his old friend. It was the only hope he had. Lottie and Beau were not the sort of companions with whom he could be content. "Good women," he felt, were lost to him, and a life of mager joys spread ahead. He had become a rather jaded, somewhat cynical young man.

IN the grip of a mood which was a mixture of dull hopelessness and sharp disgust, Pablito turned toward Havana one raw, February morning. The warmth of the previous day had been wiped from the air by a north wind and the sky was low.

The apartment had been creepingly cold and during breakfast Lottie had been bitter and sharp of tongue, making Pablito, as she often did, a target for her anger. Her back hurt "like hell!" she said. Then she tossed her head, sniffed and glowered at Pablito. "It was littin' you while you went on. 'I had to do everything for you. You just laid there like a log.'"

Pablito had heard this before. He could silence her and turn her mood with a casual kiss, he knew. This morning he could not bring himself to offer such an olive branch. He said instead glumly that she should have let him die.

"Hell, this is a merry party!" Beau put in, looking at Lottie shrewdly. She was a pretty smart kid, he felt, yet she always stumbled in her too apparent and over-eager approach of Pablito. Or else she made a scene and Pablito hated them even more than Beau did.

Pablito rose from his chair. He was going to Havana, he announced. He didn't care what happened to the old idiots who came to slap each other in the gymnasium and to fall into a trance after two minutes of sparring. He was fed up with the whole business and sick of it! Just as soon as he could he was going to get out of it! Then, shamed by this outbreak which surprised him even more than it surprised Lottie and Beau, he left them, speechless and gasping after him.

FIND OLD BOOK WHICH HELPED ELECT LINCOLN

Was Printed in German and Circulated During 1860 Campaign

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 30—(AP)—A book that helped make Abraham Lincoln President has been discovered after 74 years.

It is a biography, published for distribution in the campaign of 1860. Printed in Chicago in German to appeal to the large numbers of voters who spoke that language, it was subsequently lost to sight.

The book was added today to the Illinois Historical Library, Secretary Paul M. Angle announced. He said it was purchased from a Chicago dealer in rare books. Hitherto, he said, it has not been listed in any library.

"A number of campaign biographies are in existence and bring high prices, but this one is unique!" Angle declared.

Some New Material
It contains a portrait of Lincoln, excerpts from his speeches and letters, his platform, and his biography up to the time of the election. In fine condition, the book contains material that has not been printed elsewhere.

"Publication of campaign material in German was not unusual because of the large German settlements in St. Clair and Cook counties," Angle said. "Lincoln even owned a German language newspaper at the time of his election."

"The paper, published in Springfield, was pledged to support Lincoln for the Presidency in 1860. He owned it for the period of the campaign."

REAL BATTLE IN PROSPECT IN NATIONAL THIS YEAR

Four, and Possibly Five Teams Figured to Battle Giants

(NOTE: The following review of National League pennant prospects based on first-hand analysis of the training camp activities by Associated Press staff men, is the seventh of the spring baseball series.)

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)
New York, March 30 —(AP)—The National League is flying its own blue eagle this spring, testifying to a recovery program already well under way.

Since the Giants regained world championship prestige for the old guard last fall, new owners have taken hold of the tail-end challenge. Three pennant challengers have fortified their lineups at considerable expense and four new managers have taken charge of the spring drills.

The combined outlook is for a sensational championship race with the Giants picked as the club to beat and the Pittsburgh Pirates looming most impressively among four real rivals of Bill Terry's aggressive outfit.

May Get Surprise
Baseball men do not figure it is in the book for the Giants' pitching staff to repeat its marvelous 1933 performance, especially as the aid of the heavy Gus Mancuso behind the bat will be missed for at least another month. However, those who think the New Yorkers were in over their heads, getting all the breaks last season, may get the surprise of their lives. The club will not give up without the hardest kind of a fight and Terry's intention to make every spot count is demonstrated by his abrupt trade of George Davis, centerfielder, to the Cardinals, for the hard-hitting George Watkins.

The Pirates, despite erratic pitching, finished second last year. Outside of the box the Bucs have more all-around class than any other club in the league and the addition of Red Lucas figures to give the hurling department just the workhorse it needs. The Wonders, Lindstrom, Vaughan, Traynor and Suhr contributed to the league's highest-powered batting order not excepting even the Chicago Cubs.

Watch Cub Pitchers
Chuck Klein's addition to the Chicago outfield, at a cost of $125,000 figures to pay substantial dividends. Much also is expected from a rookie pitcher, Dick Ward, and George Stainback, an expensive outfield recruit. If the Cubs' pitching veterans such as Bush, Malone and Root, can combine a return to form, pennant calculations probably will have to be revised.

The St. Louis Cardinals and the Boston Braves both figure to be in the pennant scramble, making it a five-cornered affair for the second straight year, chiefly because each has unusually strong pitching prospects. The Cardinals also have enough speed and power to lift the club to the top, providing the Dean brothers, Tex Carleton, Bill Hallahan and Jesse Haines all come through in the box. Virgil Davis, the slugging backstop, is the principal addition.

The Braves will sorely miss their veteran pepper-box, Rabbit Marvelli, the victim of a broken leg in an exhibition game two days ago, but Manager Bill McKechnie has come up with another pitching "find" Clarence Pickrel, to aid an already well-balanced staff.

Three New Pilots
New pilots have taken the helm of the other three National League clubs, but all any of them can hope for is that he will keep his outfit from last place. Of the trio, Bob O'Farrell's Cincinnati Reds, occupants of the cellar in 1933, have shown the most improvement, especially in hitting, but it is a question how consistently the pitching staff will help, headed by Paul Derringer, St. Johnson, Dazzy Vance, Larry Benton and Sylvester Johnson.

Casey Stengel, new boss of the Brooklyn Dodgers, also has limited pitching prospects, with a staff built around Van Mungo, and lacks real batting drive. The Phillies, handicapped now by the absence of Dick Bartell with a spine wound, pin their hopes on Jimmy Wilson's ability to get results from a flock of erratic pitching arms. The club also is gambling on the ability of two new infielders to come through. It will miss the slugging of Davis and Klein.

GREAT BOWLING EXPECTED OVER THIS WEEK END

ABC at Peoria Promises to Get Red Hot Next Three Days

Peoria, Ill., March 30—(AP)—With Milwaukee, the hotbed of bowling, furnishing the performers for the stellar roles, the American Bowling Congress promises a three-day pin classic starting tonight.

Leading this delegation will be the Verifies, captained by Hank Marino, winner of more than half a hundred medals in his career and voted the world's greatest bowler last year. Also competing over the week end is the Schlitz five which is leading the Classic League in Milwaukee. The Schlitz is led by Frank Benkovic, a member of the two-man team winners for the past two years. Another member of this team is Gil Zunder, who with Benkovic, set a new all-time record of 1415 in the doubles last year.

From Indianapolis will come the Barbasols with a 1003 average, and the Jones Mely, hitting 1007 on Hoosier Capitol drives. Other high powered fives listed tonight include the Blue Moons, leading the Hamm's in the Twin City Classic circuit; the Glucks, Minneapolis; and Birk Bros. and Blatz Old Heidelberg, Chicago.

Hoppe Will Meet Cochrane in 18.2 Tourney for Lead

Chicago, March 30—(AP)—Willie Hoppe of New York and Welker Cochrane of San Francisco, two old rivals of the billiard wars, clash tonight for possession of first place in the International 18.2 balking title tournament.

The pair, with Eric Hagenlacher of Germany, were tied for the lead today with two victories and one defeat. Hoppe came back yesterday to trounce Ora Moninger, San Diego, Cal., veteran, 400 to 34, while Cochrane defeated Hagenlacher in the hardest fought match of the tournament, 400 to 345, last night.

Morningstar and Kinney Matsuyama of Japan were scheduled for action in today's matinee match.

SIX THREE-YEAR-OLDS RANK DARK HORSES IN DERBY

Performances as Two-Year-Olds Demand Consideration

New York, Mar. 30 —(AP)—On the basis of news that has seeped out of winter quarters and on their two-year-old performances, at least six three-year-olds rate consideration as dark horses for the Kentucky Derby May 5.

They are Discovery and Red Wagon from Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's barn, Warren Wright's Hadagal, John Simonetti's Sgt. Byrne, William Ziegler, Jr.'s Bonanza and Darlie from F. A. Burton's Everglade stable. All except Red Wagon and Hadagal also are eligible for the Preakness at Pimlico May 12.

Of the Vanderbilt entry, Discovery rates 20 to 1, compared with 50 to 1 held against Red Wagon in the future books.

As a two-year-old, the chestnut Discovery ran some good races, finishing second to Mata Hari in the Kentucky Jockey Club Stakes and behind Chieftain in the Walden Handicap at Pimlico, but he went slightly amiss before the end of the season.

Red Wagon outranked his stablemate in earnings, winning $9,100 with three victories and a pair of seconds in nine starts. His major conquest was in the United States Hotel Stakes at Saratoga.

Hadagal Fills Out
Hadagal, son of the famous sire, Sir Gallahad III, earned $13,360 with four victories, two second and a third as a two-year-old and during the winter filled out over 100 pounds. He has done everything asked of him and Trainer B. B. Williams says he is certain to prove a Derby factor. He is quoted at 20 to 1 in the future books.

Sgt. Byrne, a 40 to 1 shot, was a heavy campaigner among last year's juveniles, starting 18 times, winning six times.

Bonanza cost his owner only $1,300 as a yearling but earned $13,650 principally because of a victory in the Aberdeen Stakes early in the season at Havre de Grace.

Darlie started his two-year-old campaign in the winter, winning the nursery stakes at Hialeah Park. He is well advanced in training.

STIMULATION IN CAPITAL GOODS INDUSTRY NEXT

Program Is Being Given Consideration in Washington

Washington, March 30 —(AP)—A large-scale program to stimulate that branch of industry whose output is used for further production is being prepared by the administration.

Details likely will be announced within two or three weeks. Included is a gigantic home renovation and building project. Federal loans to industry are contemplated.

Hugh S. Johnson, NRA Administrator, has been mentioned to head the program, there has been talk of his quitting his present post for the job, but so far only talk.

The program is said in authoritative quarters to be the government's recognition of industry's argument that stimulation of the capital goods industries furnishes the major opportunity for the absorption of those remaining unemployed, rather than through either the so-called artificial absorption by lowering hours or the stimulation of the consumer goods industries.

May Need New Laws
While further new legislation may be necessary, it was suggested in official quarters that bills now before Congress provide the necessary authority in extending the powers of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation and of the home loan banks, and the creation of lending agencies either through the Federal Reserve System or a new set of industrial banks.

At the same time, it became known that the various governmental surveys aimed at determining more or less exactly the potentialities of the program are nearing completion. These include special studies of the home situation, possible replacement of the slums, and studies of farm housing. With semi-governmental authority, the durable and consumer's goods committees of code authorities set up by General Johnson after the recent code conference, are at work surveying industry to find out its capital needs and to ascertain further to what extent industry would borrow if the funds were available.

Need New Machinery
Preliminary surveys indicate the need for replacement of worn-out machinery is great, and further that industry is eager for such replacement if it can be suitably financed. Available present financing is for short term, and capital needs generally require a long term at a relatively low interest rate.

If amendments to the Home Loan bill now before Congress are passed, and it was said there seemed little doubt of this, the Home Owners' Loan Corporation could extend considerably the amounts which it may lend directly to home owners and to building and loan agencies.

Similarly, other legislation before Congress would permit the setting up of industrial loan banks, or would allow the Federal Reserve System to make such loans. Jesse H. Jones, RFC chief, has also indicated he can lend to very small industry and business.

Frank C. Walker, head of the National Emergency Council, has been in charge of the program, which is the work of a special cabinet committee.

VICTIM OF DISBARRED LAWYER WON'T PROSECUTE

Although He Got Only $24 Out of Legacy Worth $10,000

Minneapolis, March 30 —(AP)—When the Dutch bought Manhattan Island for $24 it was called a bargain, but it is admitted that all they got was unimproved real estate.

A disbarred attorney here has done quite as handsomely by himself, if the items or quick turnover and reduced overhead are taken into consideration.

Six months ago, according to the story told to Arthur Markve, Assistant Hennepin County Attorney, a transient in the slum district received a legacy, an estate valued at $10,000. This was composed of a half section of farm land, a house, a cottage and five lots at a lake resort.

Today the transient is living at the Salvation Army home—he has $24—and his estate has vanished.

Only One Bidder
"My father died and left me the property," the man told Markve. "The lawyer and I went up and sold the farm land at auction. There was only one bidder and he bought it at $4 an acre. The lawyer gave me $4 of this."

"Then we sold the house. The lawyer said it was worth $100 but my father paid $2,500 for it. The lawyer told me to take a second-hand car in payment and I got $20 out of the car. That's all the money I received."

"Later I sold the lake place for $60 but I haven't received that yet."

Despite all entreaties, the man refused to sign a complaint. There is nothing the County Attorney's office can do about it.

Then in the miocene geological age this ape-man ancestor's family developed two branches, says Dr. Hrdlicka. One grew into the humans of today. That doesn't mean the human branch became human at once, but did trend definitely away from becoming ape-like.

WATER INTOXICATION IS POSSIBLE, DOCTOR SAYS

The water you drink makes up 90 per cent of the fluid part of your blood. It carries through your body the essential food substances, the salts and the waste materials, says the editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Although you may be able to go forty days or more without food, you can live only four or five days without water.

Practically all physiologists agree that six glasses of water daily is a minimum for health and that eight glasses should be the average. But it should be borne in mind that too much water may be as bad as too little.

You may even get drunk on it. There is a condition called water intoxication.

If you are a normal person you may drink one or two glasses of water at a meal. Water, therefore, may be taken in moderation between meals and at meals for the good of your health.

Good drinking water is preferably cool but not ice cold. It should be available in a clean, well-lighted place.

SAVANT CLEARS UP DETAILS OF HUMANS' ORIGIN

Says There Never was a "Close Affinity" Between Men, Apes

Washington, March 30 —(AP)—There was never a "close affinity" between man and the great apes, and what relationship there was has been broken for 25,000,000 years.

That is the new verdict held today by Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, authority on ancient man, after his latest study of thousands of human and ape bones in the Smithsonian Institution and elsewhere.

The savant asserts that the human race got its start on earth not less than twenty-five million years ago, if you count back to the time when man broke all family ties with the apes and concentrated on being human.

"There is some relationship but no close affinity between man and the great apes," he says.

HORNER'S LABOR OFFICER TARGET FOR CRITICISM

Labor Director Martin Durkin Called Unfair by Miners

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 30—(AP)—The State Director of Labor—Martin Durkin of Chicago—has been made the target for criticism from the Progressive Miners of America.

The Progressives, rival coal miners union of the older United Mine Workers of America, charged through their vice president, Byron Humphries of Springfield, that Durkin had used his influence as State Director of Labor to prevent the adoption by the Senate of a House resolution seeking a state-wide referendum among the coal diggers to determine which union they preferred.

The resolution, which was adopted by the House without dissent, has twice failed in the Senate.

It asks that a referendum be conducted under the NRA so that the union controversy, which has waged for several years in Illinois coal fields with loss of life and destruction of property, may be abated.

Charges A. F. of L. Plea
Humphries said Durkin was opposing the referendum—and had asked numerous Senators to vote against it—at the behest of the American Federation of Labor with which the United Mine Workers are affiliated.

He attacked the American Federation of Labor for "asking a referendum in the auto industry where it has everything to lose."

The Progressive Plan, he said, to file a formal complaint against Durkin, with Governor Horner claiming it is Durkin's duty as State Director of Labor to remain neutral in union controversies.
